

ABSTRACT

An enhanced traffic signal which provides greater visibility to the selected indicator light, the traffic signal assembly having a body housing portion, the body housing having at least one front face, a plurality of main colored indicator lights disposed on the at least one front face of the body housing, a
5 controller for changing of the main colored indicator lights as desired, and a peripheral auxiliary lamp portion disposed around the plurality of main colored indicator lights, the outer peripheral auxiliary lamp portion electronically interconnected to the plurality of main colored indicator lights and the controller such illumination of the outer peripheral auxiliary lamp portion is synchronized with the traffic signal.

///

10